

ABSTRACT

An image capturing device includes an electronic image sensor, a memory including a frame buffer, and a processor. The processor conducts an image capture of a digital image frame and extracts predetermined events in the digital image frame.

10044026.01.1.02